Walsh comes to the Brigham from the E. L. Patch Company where he has been vice president in charge of Research and Product Development for the past seven years. Council Seeks Data On Recreation Needs

Again Request Parking Ban

Shawsheen residents have again appealed to the Selectmen for better traffic and speed control in the Village.

And they have, through the Village Improvement Association, renewed their request for no parking on many streets all day.

Included in the suggested 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. parking ban are Enmore, Balmoral, Argyle, Arundel, Carlis-brooke and York sts.

However, the Selectmen promptly frowned on this request - pointing out that some residents certainly would be inconvenienced. Various Board members recalled that this idea, when originally presented, brought protests from some Village folk, some of whom have no driveways in which to put their cars.

Suggestions that no parking rules be adopted for at least one side of these streets brought the same comment - that this would result in Questionnaires will be sent home with all school children this week, seeking data on recreation.

Sponsored by the Community Council, the questionnaire will attempt to discover what the adults of the community want in the way of recreational facilities.

The documents will also be available at the Library and at the town hall.

Listed on the questionnaire are various activities, with columns to check indicating the extent to which the family would participate in them.

Listed are sports, music, drama, arts and crafts, hobbies, dancing, social and playground. Those filling out the questionnaire are invited to add any other activity which they think should be sponsored by the community in its recreation program.

The document also asks whether the individuals can help organize an activity, and supervise it after it has been started.

The questionnaire is designed to get a widespread response, indicating the level of family and individual participation in the various activities.

Phillips Academy Will Hold Graduation

The 181st Commencement exercises will take place at Phillips Academy Friday, June 3, at 11 a.m., with John M. Kemper, headmaster, delivering the Commencement address.

Events begin this afternoon, when the headmaster and faculty tender a reception to the senior class and their families and friends at the Sumner Smith Hockey Rink. This is followed by a Senior Dinner for the parents, at which time Edwin G. Quattlebaum of Rockford, Ill., president of the graduating class, will deliver the main address and present the class gift to the headmaster. The seniors will then present the traditional Class Play and the evening will close with a Candlelight Communion Service in the Cochran Chapel.

The Commencement procession will begin at 10:30 Friday morning, with Commencement Exercises taking place outdoors in front of Samuel Phillips Hall in the Great Quadrangle.

Following Commencement exercises, the diplomas will be awarded by the Rt. Rev. Henry W. Hobson, president of the Board of Trustees, in the traditional senior circle which will form on the Great Lawn. Headmaster and Mrs. Kemper will receive the seniors and their guests at a Commencement Buffet at the headmaster's house.

THEY TRIED - AND FAILED. Andover firefighter James W. Deyermund continued to apply artificial respiration at Monday's tragic drowning in North Andover's Lake Cochichewick, even as the Rev. Walter F. Kennedy, S. J. gave the victim, Richard R. Noto of Lawrence, the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church. Noto, with two companions, was fishing in the lake when their boat tipped over. The other two men reached shore safely and summoned aid. The Andover emergency boat, manned by Deyermund and Willard H. Patterson discovered the body and brought it to shore, where oxygen was administered and artificial respiration given until the medical examiner pronounced the man dead.

Money Approved For Renewal Plans

Urban Renewal planning received a big boost late last week, when the Urban Renewal Administration announced a grant of $62,025 for detailed planning of the local project.
Housing Authority Chairman Thomas P. Eldred was notified of the grant, which involved determining the practicality of the original survey and detailed plans for the area.

No town money is involved in this stage.

If the plans are acceptable to the government, a town meeting would be expected to determine whether the town would put up its share of the eventual cost. At that time, the money allocated for planning would be added to the total cost of the project. However, if the town meeting did not approve the plans, the entire $62,025 cost would be borne by the government.

The government has also set aside $514,700 for the eventual project, if it is undertaken.

The area involved is essentially that in the center of town, including the municipal buildings.

This new-type concrete road is smooth, quiet and comfortable.

Drive it on America's newest highways!

New-type, sound-conditioned concrete will be fun to drive for 50 years

Not a "thump" to be heard on this continuous-laid concrete. It's almost like riding above the pavement, instead of on it. Sound-conditioned concrete has no joints . . . only tiny, sawed cushion spaces. You skim over them and don't know it! "Air-entrainment" prevents surface roughening, keeps concrete smooth.
Laid flat, this concrete stays flat and will last 50 years and more.

Only concrete can be engineered to match expected traffic loads. It's the preferred pavement for the new Interstate System and all major highways.

Built-in safety for Massachusetts highways

The grainy texture of new-type concrete resists skids even when wet. No uneven-ness, no "fighting the wheel." It reflects light, too. You see up to 4 times better at night on light-colored concrete than on a dark surface.

2 Scouts Elected To Order Of Arrow

Two members of Boy Scout Troop 75, Joseph McEneaney and William M. Willits Jr., and the troop's assistant scoutmaster, William M. Willits, were elected to the Order of the Arrow at a recent meeting. To be eligible for this honor, a scout must be an expert camper and must exemplify the scout oath and law in his every-day life.

The election was supervised by the Order's ceremonial team consisting of Jack Ingalls, scoutmaster of Troop 22; the assistant scoutmaster of the same troop, Frank Murabito; John Kirk, chief of the Shingebis Lodge of the Order of the Arrow; Richard Takesian Jr., and Daniel Takesian, both brotherhood members of the Order.

The same group invested those scouts who had completed their Indian war bonnets and costumes with their regalia and told something of the meaning and history of the Indian clothing. The costumes were made as part of the troop's folk-lore program by Paul Martellucci, William Willits, William McCarthy, Richard Lynch, Dennis Lyons, Raymond Pelletier, Michael Winters, Edward Winters, Paul Lussier, Paul Thomas, Michael Bergeron, Frank McFarland, and Francis Kearns.

Edward McCabe was welcomed into the troop and assigned to the Panther Patrol.

Among other recent activities of the troop was an overnight camp-out in the Lorraine park section of the Harold Parker State Forest. Thirty-one scouts participated. Members of the Fox Patrol - Michael McEneaney, Raymond Lavin, Paul Martellucci, Phillip Novey and Kenneth Conway - won top honors in a competition based on camping skill, advancement, cooking, teamwork, personal cleanliness, disciplining and policing of camp sites. The Hawk and Eagle patrols tied for second place.

Grade Four Pupils Learn About Town

The fourth graders of the Shaw-sheen School put into action the words of the popular tune "Getting to Know You", when they set out in a bus last Thursday morning to become better acquainted with their town.

Under the guidance of their teachers, Mrs. Virginia Garland and Miss Florence McCarthy, the pupils of grade four have been studying about Andover and have become aware of the rich heritage Andover possesses.

The story of the former slave, Pompey Lovejoy, and how Pomp's Pond acquired its name, held special fascination for the children. When the bus stopped in front of the house where "America" was written, the children felt a particular thrill to think that in this house were written the words of the famous song sung by people all over America.

The children visited the Addison Art Gallery and for many of the group it was their introduction to the work of great masters. As the pupils walked across the campus of Phillips Academy, they had an opportunity to view many of the buildings of an institution that has been designated by nationally known critics as the most beautiful school campus in the country. A tour of the Peabody Museum, more familiarly known as the Archaeology Building, gave the children an opportunity to see how Andover looked 300 years ago when our forefathers first came here. On the return trip, as the children traveled down Main st., they contemplated the progress and changes effected through the years because of the establishment of Andover industries and business houses. It was pointed out that the entire morning could be spent investigating and learning about the offices in the town house.

One of the objectives of the social studies curriculum for grade four is to establish the fact that certain broad environmental factors influence life in a given region. The aim of this particular field trip was to show the pupils how the people of Andover endeavor to profit by the environmental factors dominant in this region.

When they returned to their classrooms the pupils organized group discussions to evaluate their trip. While their teachers explain that it is impossible to tabulate the intangible effects, they feel assured that, for many pupils, the trip awakened a desire to know more about their town; it stimulated a respect for the past as it influences the future; and it created an awareness that in a few years these children will be called upon to assume the responsibility of guiding and shaping the policies of their town.

Copley Society Plans Exhibits

During its 80th anniversary celebration, the Copley Society is planning two major exhibitions.

From June 6 through June 17, there will be an exhibition of over 100 paintings, representing the best contemporary "traditional" art being done in New England today. This exhibition will be held at the Copley Society, 158 Newbury st., Boston. From July 18 through 30, the 80th Anniversary Exhibition will be presented by invitation at the Statler Hilton Hotel. At the time of the show a program of painting demonstration and exhibition tours will be planned for the public.

The Copley Society has a remarkable history of supporting leading artists in their day. It was here that Sergeant, Homer, Whistler and many other leading painters presented works to the Boston public. The Society sponsored the 1913 Armory Exhibition, which was the first show at the Armory. It is in the spirit of this tradition that the Copley Society presents its 80th Anniversary Exhibitions.

Mrs. Helen Collins Dooley, 66 Pine st., has one painting on exhibit, under the name of Helen Collins.

SUBURBAN KNITTING CLUB RECENTLY MET

Andover Gift House Has Been Sold

The Andover Gift House will come under new ownership this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Lister, 150 Main st., who have operated the local store since June, 1955, have sold the business to Mr. and Mrs. Austin E. Anderson of Danvers.

Both of the new owners have had long retail experience with a nationally known department store operation and Mr. Anderson is still associated with a well known gift house in Salem. The new owners of the local enterprise have been very active in civic and mercantile affairs in the Salem and Danvers area and expect to make their home in Andover shortly.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Reserved For Professionals

Should professional educators, or well-intentioned laymen, establish school curriculum and policy?

The answer to that question seems quite obvious — the professionals are, of course, better equipped to do this job.

Yet it's interesting to note that well-meaning laymen here and in most other communities have been delving deeper into this area.

So much of a problem has this become, in fact, that one noted educator has called for a halt to the practice of allowing citizens to establish educational policy and curriculum. A brief report on this opinion was given to the School Committee last week by Headmaster Lindsay J. March.

He explained that the speech, given at an educational conference, stressed the retention of policy making by the professionals, in the face of greater interest and increased pressure by laymen.

We have noted here in Andover that education has become a prime topic of conversation — some residents glibly toss the professional-sounding phrases around, but have little understanding of their meaning. Others, with some background in education, know a bit about the subject. But we are compelled to wonder whether the whole responsibility for education in the community, and curriculum development, should not rest squarely with the professional men in the school department.

This is not to say, of course, that interested citizens should not freely ask questions and expect reasonably answers. It is of doubtful value, however, to have the residents replace the thoughtful responsibility of the professionals with their own brand of education, which may be the result of a smattering of knowledge, their own prejudices and an instinctive response to world conditions.

Even the School Committee, which has an over-all responsibility for our schools, should not be embroiled too deeply in solving these problems. While the members must give their approval to all matters concerning the schools, it is too much to expect that they are all experts in the educational field. They should not take the responsibility for establishing both the broad policy and the mechanics putting it into effect when competent men are paid good salaries for this purpose.

Nor should we, as citizens, expect them to do so.

We should, on the other hand, expect the professional educators to keep alert to modern methods and developments; make worthwhile suggestions for changes and alterations in policy as needed; and be capable of implementing these policies.

Emergency Phones Needed

Picture yourself driving along a thru-way in some distant place, late at night, when you have the least idea of your precise geographical location. All you know is that staying on the highway is all you have to do, to get where you're going.

Then picture what might happen if suddenly there was a bad accident — and you had to hurriedly call an ambulance and the police.

Would you know where the nearest phone is located, or, for that matter, how to get to it quickly?

Probably the answer is no. You wouldn't have the slightest idea — except possibly to drive until you found a restaurant or gasoline station.

This, then, is the same situation that faces anyone driving along Route 93.

Late at night there is only a slim chance that a stranger — or even some folks who live nearby — would know where to find the nearest phone. They might not even know what town they were in.

Thus it appears that some form of citizen alarm — those telephones hooked up directly with police headquarters — might profitably be installed at two or three prime locations along the highway. Occasional signs could tell the location, so motorists would be aware of the alarms' existence and location. This seems to be the only sensible solution to the problem — for the installation of public phones in booths along the highway is, we understand, impractical.

Perhaps the state would be interested in pursuing this line of thought, for such a system might save lives in an emergency.

The public seldom views with alarm the opinions of those who expect to alarm others with their views.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — June, 1910

Philip A. Cox of Frye Village is ill with pneumonia.

Philip L. Hardy, a member of the graduating class at the Lowell Textile School, which received its diplomas Friday afternoon, read a paper entitled "Economy Tests of 25 W. W. Kerr Turbo Generator Set".

Roy E. Hardy has been chosen for membership in Alpha Delta Tau at Phillips Academy. This is an honorary scholarship society and is the highest recognition of scholarship in the school.

The new incandescent light just erected on Red Spring rd. is a wonderful and much-needed improvement.

After an existence of 46 years, the well-known grocery firm of F. G. Haynes and Co. has been succeeded by the new firm of Poor and Riley.

Mrs. Bernard Allen and Mrs. Frank Buttrick were elected president and vice president, respectively, at the meeting of the Mothers' Club Wednesday, Yesterday, the Ballardvale Mothers' Club named Lucy Anne Allen as its president.

25 Years Ago — June, 1935

Kenneth Sherman, now junior high principal in Dedham, has been appointed principal of the Junior High School. The School Committee set $2,700 as his starting salary next year, when two grades will be under his supervision. When the present freshman class reverts to junior high status, the pay will climb to $2,900, and then will go up $100 each year to a maximum of $3,300.

The erection of a billboard in Shawsheen Square has residents up in arms. The big sign is directly across the street from the much-disputed vacant lot. The Selectmen, told of the situation Monday, said it may be necessary to seek court action to get the sign down.

Abbot and Phillips Academies will hold commencement exercises this next week. Abbot graduates Monday and Phillips the following Friday.

The state DPW has informed the House of Representatives that the town must bear the cost of any construction on Main st. near Phillips Academy. The report, sought by Rep. Thomas J. Lane, said this is a town way.

A Walnut ave. home was damaged by fire last Friday evening, to the extent of $1,000. Neighbors saw the blaze and notified the fire department.

10 Years Ago — June, 1950

Many of the flowering shrubs at Phillips Academy Sanctuary are now in full bloom.

Residents of Ballardvale are circulating a petition to have the mill dam in their area repaired. County engineers have concurred with the opinion that immediate repairs are needed. The present debate centers around the responsibility — town, county or state. There are 54 graduates at Abbot Academy.

Many persons braved the downpour Tuesday to take part in the Memorial Day parade and ceremonies. J. Everett Collins delivered the oration on the steps of the Memorial Auditorium.

Several cases involving drivers who block the passage of the ambulance have been reported to police. Chief George Dane has promised that the next person noted blocking the emergency vehicles will be taken to court.

The appointment of Harold Howe 2nd as principal of the Junior High has been drawing bitter comment. Editorially, the Townsman comments that most people believe "it is a decided reflection on the entire public school system in the state". Mr. Howe came directly to public school administration from the faculty of Phillips Academy.

Garden Club Given Award

At the annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Garden Clubs Inc., held at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst May 19, the Andover Garden Club received the Award of Merit for its Historical Society Garden Project.

The Project was conceived in 1958 by Mrs. Edward C. Nichols who was then president of the Andover Garden Club.

In May of 1958, an Open House Day was held at the Historical Society, under the sponsorship of the Andover Garden Club, to initiate the fund-raising necessary for planning and re-planting the gardens. Mrs. Charles H. Hollis headed a large committee of Andover Garden Club members who worked untiringly to make the day a success.

A Christmas Open House Tour in December of 1958 and a plant sale in May of 1959 under the direction of Mrs. Ernest L. Wilkinson, president, and Mrs. Leslie N. Hutchinson, horticulture chairman, swelled the treasury so that the project could continue.

Following plans drawn up by Albert Rettele, consultant, Mrs. Douglas S. Byers and her standing committee of Mrs. Charles Arnold, Mrs. Frederic O'Brien and Mrs. John Stewart, have produced the charming gardens and pleasing landscape which are so admired today.

Since this is a standing project of the Andover Garden Club, work and fund-raising will continue with events throughout the year under the leadership of Mrs. Henry Van Zandt, current president of the Andover Garden Club.

This last is of particular interest, as it includes a trip to the "high country", seen only by a few Yosemite visitors.

Adult Books For Young People

Recently a list of adult books which would be interesting to older teen-age readers was compiled by the Young Adult Services Division of the American Library Association. The titles were selected from the entire output of adult books published during the year as the best books for this group. Among non-fiction, books of war drama dominate the list, indicating the popularity of war narratives among teen-age readers. Titles range from the Burma jungle warfare depicted on Charlton Ogburn's "The Marauders" to man's survival in nuclear war in Pat Frank's "Alas, Babylon". Books about other countries are represented by Santha Rama Rau's "My Russian Journey" and Carol Bartholomew's "My Heart Has Seventeen Rooms". Books on this list were chosen from nominations by members of the YASD Book Selection Committee and a nation-wide ballot of 30 public library and school librarians who work with young people of high school age.

Among the titles are the following, all of which may be borrowed from the Memorial Hall Library: Act One, Moss Hart; Alas Babylon, Pat Frank; Celia Garth, Bristol; Collision Course, Alvin Moscow; D. Day, David Howarth; Endurance, Alfred Lansing; Flowers Of Hiroshima, Edith Morris; It's Good To Be Alive, Roy Campanella; The King's Fool, Margaret Campbell Barnes; The Last Nine Days Of The Bismarck, Cecil Scott Forester; The Marauders, Charles Ogburn Jr.; More Than Meets The Eye, Carl Mydans; My Heart Has Seventeen Rooms, Carol Bartholomew; My Russian Journey, Santha Rama Rau; Nautilus 90 North, William Anderson; Nine Coaches Waiting, Mary Stewart; Nine Tomorrows, Isaac Asimov; Return Of Hyman Kaplan, Leo Rosten; A Shirttail To Hang To, Beth Day. Any book listed here may be reserved.

Planning A Garden

Owners of new homes as well as those who are moving to different houses, newcomers in temporary quarters and established families are all beginning to think about the fun of making or remaking gardens. For those who must leave for new fields next year, the annual garden, planted with seeds which will come to flower before the fall, must be the choice. Perhaps long term plans need the most careful study, and the library is always willing to offer books on landscaping, garden lay-outs, color in the garden, perennials, evergreens and flowering bulbs. The rose garden enthusiast will find numberless helps in selection of varieties, planting, staking, etc., among the books on the garden corner, and the arm-chair gardener can find hours of delight in the informal garden essays, magazines, illustrated catalogs and garden picture books.

ASK BAN ON PARKING

hardships for some residents, on the west side of the street the ban is placed.

However, the Selectmen agreed that the major complaints - speed and traffic - will be considered carefully. Chief David L. Nicoll explained that town meeting voted the money for a device that will determine the speed of cars, and this item is being purchased. He agreed that the officers assigned to the Village at the traffic hours can be moved around some, to check on the speed of cars after they leave the Raytheon plant.

It was brought out that two vital bills are in the Legislature somewhere - one would levy a high fine on persons who get too many tickets, the other would allow towing from specific areas.

Both the residents and the Selectmen agreed that the local representatives should be contacted to find out how this legislation can be pushed forward.

The towing law would give the police department power that it does not now have to tow cars in certain posted areas. This would result in better control of the parking situation, it was explained. The boosted traffic ticket fine would, it was felt, discourage those who now shrug off their $1 or $2 fine for repeated offenses as being an expensive price to pay for all-day parking privileges.

John Broderick, spokesman for the Association, said his group feels that the town and Raytheon have been most cooperative and have been working hard on the problem. But he wondered whether the problems would not repeat themselves, if the missile-producing firm continues to expand. It was noted that the company is advertising for employees again, although a peak employment had been reached some time ago and officials had stated that the plant could not accommodate many more people. The group felt generally that the installation of the Bailey Bridge will help ease the traffic conditions. The Bridge will be installed as soon as final clearance is obtained by Raytheon from Boston Army officials.

Choir Festival
At Free Church

The first annual Choir Festival of the Merrimack Chapter, American Guild of Organists, is scheduled for Sunday, June 5, at 4 p.m. at the Free Christian Church. The public is invited.

Approximately 150 adult choristers from Chapter members' choirs throughout the Lower Merrimack River Valley area have been preparing and rehearsing the program, according to Festival Chairman Donald Amy of Free Church. Program content will be of special interest to many because it represents a poll taken amongst those participating and therefore includes the more popular and best liked selections.

Clergy assisting in the program include the Rev. J. Allyn Bradford, pastor of the host church, and the Rev. Egbert W. A. Jenkinson, for 33 years minister and now minister emeritus of the First Church, Methuen.

Chapter members taking part in the program include Donald Amy, Andover; Ivar Sjöström, Andover; Keith Gould, Andover; Alvin Wooster, Haverhill; Eleanor Hooper, Haverhill; and Horace Killam, Lawrence.

"Larger Festivals, to include Junior Choirs, and to include choirs from all churches in these areas, whether conducted by Chapter members or non-members is the projected aim of our Guild," said retiring Dean Wooster, in a public statement.

Lloyd be appointed to act as sole executor until William comes within the continental limits of the U. S. and qualifies as executor by accepting his appointment. It states that in the event that Andrew J. Lloyd should decline or cease to serve as executor she nominates Roland H. Sherman of Andover to act in his place.

According to a statement by President Eisenhower, "Many people in Chile are homeless, injured, and poorly clothed. It is now winter in Chile. The disaster area is one of heavy rainfall, hence the extent of personal suffering being experienced by Chileans is almost beyond comprehension."

Checks and cash may be sent to the Andover Chapter, American Red Cross, 4 Punchard ave., and should be marked "for Chilean Relief."

Signed Feb. 10, 1953, the will of James Coates of Andover has been recorded in the Registry of Probate. He died May 2. No estimate of the value of his estate was listed.

All of the property was bequeathed to a son, George E. Coates of Methuen, who was nominated as the executor. The gift was made in appreciation of all that he and his wife, Mrs. Irene Coates, "have done for me during my lifetime," the will set forth. The testator made no provision for Mary Gemmel of Andover, a cousin of his late wife, but requested the Methuen son to look after her to the best of his ability. He and two other sons, James Coates of Baltimore, Md., and Alfred Coates of Miami, Fla. are listed as the next of kin.

Faith is the hope that the future is what the past might have been, but wasn't.
